

angela JOHNSON

SPEAKER | AUTHOR | EDUCATOR

With straight-talk and a hint of humor, Angela delivers Biblically sound messages that apply to everyday life.

ABOUT:

Angela has been married to her husband, Derrick, for 13 years. They have three children, Elliott, Elias, and Eleanor, and live in Columbus, OH. Angela is a registered nurse, public health educator, author, and speaker. She has also served as a ministry leader at local and international levels.

Angela has a passion for teaching and sharing the Word of God through the written and spoken word. The Lord has given her a fervor to disciple women and help them mature in their faith.

With her unique experience, she weaves science and story together using insight from her 20-year career in business, medicine, education, and ministry leadership. Angela is a voice of encouragement and truth, challenging listeners to intentionally and courageously pursue Jesus.

When she's not writing, speaking, or podcasting, she enjoys worshiping, crafting, making charcuterie boards, shopping, and spending time with friends and family.

SIGNATURE MESSAGES:

Palms & Pearls

- Have you ever asked, "What's the purpose in this struggle?" or, "What is the lesson in this trial?" In this message, Angela artfully shares how we all need some resistance to not only survive, but thrive.

Be Unoffendable

- Just turn on the TV, scroll through social media, or have a conversation with anyone—the opportunity to be offended is everywhere. But, ultimately, we have the choice to be offended or not.

Worrier to Warrior

- Ridding ourselves of all worry will never be 100% possible — but we can still do our part to arm ourselves to combat the worry battle in our minds.

“Angela is deep yet simple to understand... you will be blessed, strengthened, encouraged and grow from Angela.” — Rhonda Holland, Author, Speaker

"Angela takes us on a journey to discover that each and every person has a unique calling." — Jess Hammond, Pastoral Care Director

"So, so, SO good! So simple, so what I needed!"
— Samantha Williams, MOPS member
